Hope Misterek

Wardrobe, Prop + Set Stylist

Originating from the savvy fast paced East Coast energy of Massachusetts, and the chic image conscious Los Angeles, Ca, is Hope S. Misterek. When she was just 4 years old, she made her first purse from vinyl material, which she stapled together. By age 7 she was using her mother's sewing machine to make things out of scrap materials. "My first sewn purse was made from an old bath towel. My Mother proudly used it until it got worn."

Hope has an uncanny talent to select clothing that appeals to a vast variety of people. "It stems from those fashion magazines. The very first one I ever saw, I was hooked. I wanted more! I studied them." She has also traveled the country and abroad which have directly influenced her sense of style. "Observing so many people has helped me in determining the whole psychology of who people are and what clothes they wear."

She further honed her skills at Massachusetts Community College, North Eastern University and Make Up Designory-Burbank. Her creative talent in Fashion, coupled with many years of business experience makes her an integral part of the future of fashion.

Hope is a freelance fashion and prop stylist, costume designer and costumer, currently residing in Seattle, WA, and traveling to Los Angeles and New York for print and film work often. She has been included in Who's Who of Women-12th Edition, Who's Who of Executives-1997 and Nationwide Register's Who's Who in Executives and Businesses-Millennium Edition.
